

SCHOOLS FOR COLORED ARE OVERCROWDED

Ten Thousand Negro Children In School. This Number Will Be Reported To School Board Next Tuesday. Over One Thousand More Than Any Previous Year. Summer High Makes Large Gain. Additional Building Immediately Necessary. Old Lincoln School At Twenty-third and Walnut Prehale. 188 Teachers Required.

At the sound of the gong last Tues day morning a record breaking crowd of young Negroes, boys and girls, filled the auditorium of the public school building at 28th and Washington, where it was reported that over one thousand more children enrolled this year than last, the board got busy to relieve the situation.

The School Board Acted While it has been generally believed that there would be an unusually large number of children in attendance at the opening of the full fall Board of Education, could not anticipate just where the congestion would be greatest. However, after the first day, when it was reported that over one thousand more children enrolled this year than last, the board got busy to relieve the situation.

According to the report of Dr. J. Marshall, Superintendent of public schools and Lackey Sta. would be crowded. Colored children, but it was noted that this was not practicable at the present time. When questioned by an African reporter, as to what had been done to relieve the crowded condition among the colored children, Prof. Bryant, as representative of the colored teachers on the Board of Education was awake to the situation and another school for the children would soon be opened, but he could not say just now in what neighborhood. It is generally known, however, that the colored school building at 28th and Washington, which was selected for the colored children as the white children in that district have moved to the Pops School.

The opening of this school to the colored children will necessitate a new principal and a number of teachers, in addition to the already 9 principals and 177 teachers as follows:

NATIONAL NEGRO BUSINESS LEAGUE

Would Make World Really Safe for Democracy. Condemns Hypocrisy on the Part of Those to Authority. Praised Col. Theodore Roosevelt for His Brave Stand. Commends State Officials.

We yearn intensely for the day when the world shall be "safe for democracy," when man may be free of the world over, freed from caste, political discrimination, oppression of every sort, and prejudice; when men everywhere, in their personal and the economic rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, with equal opportunities for education and labor, with fair and real incentives for personal and racial development, with equal justice to all and much toward none. We must respectfully urge that consistency demands the same kind of world democracy we shun practices it at home. We must insist that the world safe for democracy unless our country is safe for democracy. Unless every man in America shall have a man's chance, America's plea for world democracy shall, because of our inconsistency, be the occasion of our downfall.

The cause must not only be safe for travel, but likewise every hypothesis in America. We unreservedly condemn or of every nature, whether found in our race or others, and we must insist that the world be safe against the vicious crimes of the past. As far as we live off our own condemnation of lynching and mob rule, believing we do that such practices undermine good government, promote insecurity and fear, and are a serious reflection on our Country's civilization. The most heinous of these have been East St. Louis, Memphis, and Alabamians here in America have also brought to shame throughout the world. The failure to punish adequately the perpetrators of these crimes has emboldened them to believe that our people in some parts of the country live in constant fear and savagery by day and by night.

We do not intend to command state and municipal officials in all parts of the country to do the cures of their own communities. We do not live in prudence and trust the promptness of the police. We regard our hearty appreciation and sincere gratitude to the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt for his eloquent and forceful words recently delivered on the importance of mob rule and lawlessness, which he uttered in a tour throughout the nation and the world, and particularly boasting to us people.

We regard our hearty appreciation and sincere gratitude to the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt for his eloquent and forceful words recently delivered on the importance of mob rule and lawlessness, which he uttered in a tour throughout the nation and the world, and particularly boasting to us people.

We especially desire to commend the attitude taken on lynching by the Hon. Sidney J. Vane, Governor of Florida, and the Hon. Augustus O. Stanley, Governor of Keokuk.

The Roots of the Hair

Just as a good fertilizer stimulates the soil and produces a rich crop of wheat or corn, so will the proper remedy create a healthy condition of the scalp, and promote the growth of the hair. QUINADE stimulates and nourishes the scalp, and removes the dead skin, thereby creating a healthy scalp.

Quinade was invented by a New York chemist, and is made under the personal supervision of a registered pharmacist of over twenty-five years' experience; this is a guarantee that Quinade is a safe and effective hair restorer. The ingredients are selected with care and nothing in keeping the scalp in a clean, healthy condition. It should be used about once a week.

MT. OLIVE BAPTIST CHURCH

1409 N. 12th St.

Rev. E. R. Keyson preached for us all-servants, Rev. W. W. Smith, our marksmen, subject, "The Good Railway." Teaching earnestly the little things we leave down as of vital importance. The school programs are both edifying and inspiring to old and young, and are to be commended. The pastor, Dr. Morris, has been sick and is still far from well; but he is improving rapidly. His son, Rev. L. H. Morris, preached at the 10 a.m. service, a short electric exhortation that left the audience spell-bound. The real beauty of the sermon was its baffle self-questioning that "the mida will digest as it unfolds day by day and hit by hit to each individual."

REV. D. W. MORRIS, Pastor.

ST. PAUL A.M.E. CHURCH

Last Sunday marked the close of the last quarter, according to the usual pace, and the services were extended all day. The preceding evening, Rev. P. Turner, preached a most delightful sermon at 11 a.m. and Rev. D. W. Oaks presented the sacramental service at 3 o'clock, which was full of spiritual power. Quite a number of the associate pastors were present in the pulpit.

Don't fail to hear our pastor, Dr. Johnson, next Sunday morning. He is always prepared to give his congregation a good spiritual sermon. Strangers are always welcome. The pastor has been called to collect the dollar money.

The membership is invited to St. James church Sunday at 3 p.m., the quarterly meeting service for the conference year.

METROPOLITAN NOTES

Metropolitan A. M. E. Zion Church was visited by Rev. A. E. Ziegler, son of one of the most distinguished Pythian of the United States.

Last Sunday remained as of the first Sabbath, we moved into the church. There were enough people standing around and about the church for the want of seats, to have had an average meeting. The services and sermons added greatly to the brilliancy of the occasion. Every one expressed themselves as having had a delightful time. The trip was made to Ferguson and return in two hours and fifteen minutes.

The United Railway employees said, "this is the best behaved crowd we have ever taken out."

ST. JAMES A.M.E. CHURCH

The auditorium and lecture room were packed last Sunday morning in honor of "Woman's Day." At eleven o'clock the suffrage banner, the shielded flag of our own nation, Mr. Alice Miller, the organ band for the first strains of "Forward Christian Soldiers" and the processional hymns.

Mrs. Elia Jones delivered the welcome address after which Mrs. Eliza Beckwith Goode in a rich contralto sang, "Sing Thou My Hand." The speaker, Mrs. Thomas, was then introduced and received four-minute salutes by her audience, still smiling.

Her remarks as "Mother," "All that is noble and best in man," said the speaker, "is his heritage from a good mother."

Mrs. Thomas is in all the beauty and grandeur of her noble womanhood, and a commanding link between the dark days of slavery and the bright light of freedom. She is a woman of the prayer, Mrs. Bertha Hopkins, with all the sweetness of her beautiful countenance, very freshly sang, "Some Days I'm Understood."

The evening services were almost as largely attended as the morning services. Mrs. Nellie Minnes read a well prepared paper in "The Achievements of Women" in which she portrayed the beautiful characters of some of the noble women in Biblical history. Mrs. Jeanette Lott, very effectively sang, "A Perfect Day." Mrs. Jessie Robison, the speaker of the evening, gave a spirited talk on "Consecrated Woman." Her address was brimful of earnestness attacking sin on every side. She made a strong appeal to Christian women to be uncompromised, but live clean, pure, useful and for God.

The choir, which was equal to the organist and carried out the musical program to the letter. It was a "good day" in St. James, and much credit is due Mrs. Kelly and her assistants.

Sunday, Sept. 9 will be the 4th quarterly meeting of the Negro M.C.A. for every party to fill his pulpit next Sunday morning, Dr. Fred West will preach from the subject "Life Abundant." Do not fail to hear him. You are cordially invited to attend all services. Communion at three o'clock.

Smith expects to make his second annual report at the Missouri and Illinois Conference which convenes Oct. 29, at Lane Tabernacle church. Rev. Smith, having come from the Kansas Conference, having been elected to Lane Chapel, Topeka, Kansas. Our church having the greatest success in its history, under Rev. Smith's splendid leadership. He has established a record which will remain in the memory of his faithful members, who are always willing to assist him in any way possible. He is a true gospel preacher, but needs more time to do his work. We are often invited to the homes of the needy members, giving assistance.

The stewards, steward, trustees boards, and class leaders have adopted a resolution at the last Quarterly Conference to present to the Annual Conference, asking for the reform of the parsonage tax.

"Labor Day" was the subject discussed last Sunday. It was a message to the men, beginning with creation.

Rev. P. Turner, preached a most delightful sermon at 11 a.m. and Rev. D. W. Oaks presented the sacramental service at 3 o'clock, which was full of spiritual power. Quite a number of the associate pastors were present in the pulpit.

Divine Guidance

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D.D.
Dean of Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TRUTH—He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake—Pauline.

Every word in this sentence is weighty. I think of personal pronouns.

It contains the elements of both atheism and materialism, since it asserts the existence of a personal God that is not independent of the created universe. It denies deism, too, which holds that there is a personal, omnipotent God, but for me who is the controlling presence in the universe.

2. His leadership. "To lead" means to guide or to conduct us by the hand; and it is blessed that God allows us to think of him as occupying such an attitude towards us. "I have called thee righteous," said he, "and will hold thy hand, and will guide thee."

3. His protection. "To lead" means to bring to pasture, and by his location in the person of Jesus Christ, God has actually gone before us in the flesh in sufficiency and glory, "leaving an example that we should follow his steps."

"To lead" means to persuade, as when one is driven by necessity to do a certain thing. And here again we see the analogy to spiritual truth. "It was good for me to be afflicted," says Paul, "before I was afflicted. I went astray, but now have kept thy law."

"To lead" means to draw, to allure, as when one's desires and affections are stirred in a given direction, and then willingly and ardently pursue it. And we write, "The goodness of God leadeth us, but even better to hope for him to lead us in our personal interest."

3. His leadership. And the Hebrew names were given to children, which were significant. Daniel means "God is my judge." The significance of the name then was that all problems of man were submitted to God for trial and decision. But we also find of Daniel's life that he was the son of David's life. That is to say, his life seems to have been entangled in his very life and being. So thoroughly did he imbibe this spirit that in all things he made God arbiter of his plans and purposes. The object no doubt in the choice of name was to concentrate his national and religious consciousness, and identify him with the besties of God, the righteousness which is his birthright. They are found in the paths of righteously, because they are found in Christ. But being found, they are lost in God. This leading is equivalent to the growth in grace in their development to Christ. Hence the significance of that preposition "in." He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness. Not "into" them but "in" them. He leads us into them in the first place, since without his regeneration, we could never have been found in them.

Landing While in Way. But it is a different thing to be led "into" them after we have been led "into" them. The path of righteously, where we are to go, is the way of service to us, if God were to withdraw his personal leadership. He must not only make us Christians, but he must keep us Christians, and he must keep us in the path of righteously. And the importance of this continued leadership is emphatically phrased by the word "paths." Not one, but many. Sometimes they are paths of bodily affliction, of peril, bereavement, poverty, strong temptation, moral darkness, desertion, opposition, death. In all these paths he leadeth me. By his grace he guides us by his spirit, and by the example of his own life in the flesh.

For His Name's Sake. For it is wonderful how man and woman great things God has done for us and promises to do for us in His Name's sake. This is a humbling truth, since taken from all the thought of us, right or wrong, the better part. But it is an inspiring truth. For if God leads us in the paths of righteously for His Name's sake, the honor of His Name is involved in His leading us to the very end, and up to the throne of glory.

LEONARD TEXT—Daniel 1.
GOLDEN TEXT—But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the meat and drink of the king's meat; nor with the wine which he drank.

The book of Daniel, with the great prophecies, moral and unfulfilled, is one of the most interesting and important books in the Bible. Without a grasp of the prophecies of Daniel, one is absolutely impossible for us to understand the New Testament and the times in which we live. Daniel gives us an outline of the entire period of time from the passing of the Gentiles to the coming of the King of Kings.

Noble M. Johnson In The "Law of Nature"

Will Be Seen At the Booker Washington Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday September 13, 14 and 15.

Noble M. Johnson, the celebrated matinie picture actor, will be seen at the Booker Washington Theatre, Thursday and Friday and Saturday, in a new and unusual dramatic drama entitled "The Law of Nature." The photoplay is being presented by the newly formed Picture Company which created much sensation recently with "The Troop of Troop K," the Carizzo Massacre, with Mr. Johnson in the leading role.

"The Law of Nature," is a tremendous and powerful story with a moral. The story carries the audience from the tortuous atmosphere to the gay white way of the fast life. It is a picture for every girl who expects to marry and for the man who expects to marry her. It is a brilliant society play, with a love tragedy and an exciting, absorbing and unforgettable story. It is clean. It deals in a gripping way with the true love of a real man and an innocent woman, endangered by the sinister intentions of an ardent admirer.

The photoplay, made, acted and produced by the Color company, has been drawing houses ever since it was shown. It is another triumph for the Lincoln Company. The picture will be shown at the regular price of admission, at the Booker Washington, with the usual high grade of vanderbilt and other pictures on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, next week. Don't miss it.

THEATRES

REAL ARTISTS OF GRACE AND
RHYTHM GIVING HIGH CLASS
SHOW AT THE B. W.
THEATRE

An up-to-date bill featuring with real talent, is on the boards at the Booker Washington Theatre this week. As we anticipated, it is a high tide week.

At least three of the acts are up and above the average and the patrons are entertained with many delightful entertainments that are frequent appearance and numerous scenes.

Mrs. Ethel Marshall opens the show with a repertoire of songs and dances. This talented actress, formerly with the "Jewell" Show, has won the favor of St. Louisans and is popular with the public.

She is featuring "I Am Blue," a beautiful song. Is her closing piece, "Hawaiian Butterfly," she gives a brief sketch of Oriental dancing that is both graceful and artistic, leaving the audience for more.

The Billy R. Johnson Trio, two men and a woman, has an act built upon old lies, but succeed in drawing much applause with their singing and dancing. They feature "The Pop Hop Hop."

Tommie Parker and Baby Mack, two young girls, are the stars of the show. Their dancing is frequently seen in the saloons where patrons never tire, are fairly sheepish, leg the crowds with one of the classic acts that has been here before.

The skill is their own original composition. It is a delightfully coquettish, artistic and funny act.

In action of the playlet, there is a wide range of original conversation and individual song and dance numbers that wins appreciative applause, but the team work by the trio is the biggest attraction of the evening.

It is a large and varied program, with each dressed in sailor style. This number is full of melodic melody and rhythmic motion and is rewarded with round after round of encoder applause.

The unique act, that completely captivates the audience with its unexpected deceptions, the pair appear in a burlesque scene and mind reading stunt.

The trick is to go big with the audience, leads his audience to real expectation by his apparent performances. Several song and dance numbers are added. The young woman, of pleasant appearance and excellent voice, does well singing "Good Luck, God Bless You," and the pair close with a song and dance that takes the house by storm.

TENNIS MATCHES SATURDAY

The following tennis matches will be played on the West Belle Tennis Court Saturday afternoon at 1:30:

Singles: Arthur Taylor vs. Tom James; Allie Jones vs. Wa. Daugherty, Dr. Slaughter vs. Chas. Eston, Harry Hill vs. C. W. Morris, Mrs. G. Jones vs. Miss. Quares, etc.; Mrs. G. Jones vs. Mrs. Grace James vs. Mrs. Henry Hill.

Doubles: Jones and Slaughter vs. Carter and Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. Hill vs. Mr. and Mrs. James, Dr. Slaughter and Mrs. Quares vs. Allie Jones and Mrs. Gertrude Jones.

DOLLAR PARADE PICTURES A REAL TRIUMPH OF INGENUITY

The motion pictures of the Pythian Military Parade in St. Louis are what may correctly be termed a triumph in the art of screen photography. They are so perfect that many development belt for a few weeks, to appreciate the fact that all scenes have been posed for not only profit. Any man or woman can make pictures in your home or office.

Send your Special Order or write for particulars.

to picture the entire parade of the big Python parade in St. Louis, is a grave responsibility. How well he succeeded is attested by the thousands who reviewed the picture at the Booker Washington Theatre last week. A few in any section would have necessitated the conclusion that the big demonstration would not have been so well received pictorially. But the pictures are not only complete, but remarkably clear and perfect; so plain that many in the audience, forgetfully, saluted their friends by name. All the dignified brilliancy of the grand parade was displayed by the camera. More than 1,000 feet of film was used in the production. The scenes start with the beautiful camp grounds and end with the passing of the parade in front of the reviewing stand. The entire parade is shown, with the various companies in their best order. Special "cut-ups" or scenes are presented of high Python officials and other dignitaries.

The picture was taken under the careful supervision of Mr. Turpin and was assembled by Richard J. Clay. It will be shown in all the principal cities throughout the country and should be seen by everyone.

Prof. Ulysses Cross, formerly leader of the Booker Washington Theatre orchestra, who has been in the east for a couple of years, has returned to St. Louis and may locate here again.
